- Keep the implementation simplified; try a phased approach to allow the client time to gain experience and understanding

Product Demonstrations

CallMiner is pleased to offer sales services to our partners by conducting demonstrations of our product suite for their prospective customers. The goal of our Product Demo is to expose customers to Speech Analytics.

How do I request a Product Demo for a prospective sales opportunity?

Complete our Partner Opportunity form located here: <http://callminer.com/partners/partner-opportunity-form>

NOTE: It is important to complete the Industry and Business Objectives field on this form to identify which vertical market and operational use case(s) your client is targeting (e.g., Customer Experience, Agent Quality Management, Compliance, Sales Effectiveness, Quality Monitoring). This information will drive the appropriate presentation by our Solution Architect.

Product Test Drives

Following an initial overview and demonstration, CallMiner is happy to provide potential clients with a free “Test Drive”. This offers a snapshot of the intelligence CallMiner Eureka reveals out-of-the-box. Prospective customers will experience CallMiner’s “velocity to vision”, ease of set-up, and better experience the day-to-day use of this speech analytics software when they see the result of applying CallMiner Voice of the Customer Analytics to a representative sample of their own contact data.

A test drive requires a sample set of call recordings (between 500 and 1000 hours of audio) with its associated metadata. We will ingest your calls and metadata into CallMiner Eureka platform and demonstrate our findings.
